

Teen Sib Quotes

---

Crystal's Story

Being a sibling has its advantages and disadvantages like most things. When things get on top of me I have trouble working out the advantages. I have a brother who has Aspergers syndrome who is 12 years old. He is often violent, aggressive and always shouting and yelling. He is embarrassing to go out with and I often feel ashamed in front of people.

People who don't know about his problem always stare at us in public, make rude gestures and talk about us behind our back. When I was in primary school, I always lost friends because of his behaviour. He always steals my stuff and goes into my things. On a rare occasion we get on and they are nice moments that I wish we had more often. I think that having a sibling website is a good idea. I think it would be a good chance for other siblings to talk to each other through chats.
